

FAMILY PHILANTHROPY: YOUR FAMILY'S LEGACY

The goal of Family Philanthropy is to establish or continue your family's legacy of giving to support the community's needs into the future. With our expertise on local organizations and efforts, we can help you give strategically to support a community that has been integral to your family history.

The Community Foundation can provide your family with:

LEARNING:

What does philanthropy mean to your family?

It's much more than a monetary gift. Philanthropy is about active pursuit of positive change, and our philanthropic advising team can help determine exactly what that means to you.

DIRECTION:

Where do you want to focus your efforts?

By discussing your interests, passions, and concerns, we can help you formalize a statement of philanthropic intent.

MENTORING:

How do philanthropists make decisions?

Our Program Officers can guide you through a simulation of grant application review, scoring and selection. Having a framework in place can make the process easier for you.

PLANNING:

Who will join you in these efforts?

Defining legacy is an important part of creating it. We can facilitate family philanthropy meetings to plan the transfer of funds to the next generation.

ASSESSMENT:

When will you see results?

Grant reports are available for many of your grants to help you measure your impact. You can view stories, photos, and data that show the impact of your gifts.
